

ECEn 391. Junior Seminar

Catalog Description:	ECEn 391. Junior Seminar. (0.5:1:0) F Seminars and colloquia on current topics in electrical and computer engineering, as well as ethics, contemporary issues, and lifelong learning. Attendance and some writing required.
Course Type:	Engineering Topics
Prerequisites:	ECEn 212
Textbooks and/or other required materials	Thomas L. Friedman, The World is Flat: A Brief History of the Twenty-First Century , Farrar, Straus and Giroux: New York, 2005.
Topics Covered:	Post-graduate careers, job-searching, globalization of the profession, ethics in the workplace, and graduate school.
Course Competencies:	An understanding of professional ethics.	Outcome 6
	Ability to use the library, internet, etc. to learn about recent developments in a particular technical field.	Outcome 9
	Knowledge of recent developments in a particular technical field.	Outcome 10
Schedule:	Lectures: Thursdays, 11:00-11:50 AM Laboratory: None TA Recitations: None
Prepared by:	Michael A. Jensen
Date:	June 24, 2008	